The Network of Interdisciplinary Translation Studies (NITS) in the Netherlands and Flanders is pleased to announce its fourth annual meeting, hosted by the Inclusive and Sustainable Machine Translation (ISMT) research group of the Department of Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence at Tilburg University.

About NITS:

NITS aims to bring together researchers from Translation Studies and related disciplines—such as Interpreting Studies, Machine Translation, and Translation Technology—for a one-day conference. The goal is to present research ideas, ongoing projects, and teaching innovations that intersect Translation Studies with other fields, fostering collaboration on future projects, research, and teaching initiatives.
